

Ready to Grow Workshop Speaker Biographies

Ashwin Halgeri, Boston Consulting Group

Ashwin Halgeri is currently a Project leader at the Boston Consulting Group and has spent close to a decade with the firm working across geographies and industries. Ashwin started with BCG in Singapore where he worked predominantly in the telecommunication space across countries in South East Asia. Ashwin went on to get an MBA from the Kellogg School of Management before transferring to BCG's Los Angeles office. Since then, he has focused on the technology space and supported numerous clients devise and implement growth strategies. Ashwin has an honors degree in Chemical Engineering from the National University of Singapore. In his spare time, Ashwin enjoys spending time with his newly expanded family and home improvement.